Central valley is situated in the Hindukush mountains like a crown. With its high mountains, green valleys and unique culture. Central has attracted mountaineers, trekkers, naturalists and anthropologists alike.

Pathans always have been a fertile soil. Political instability has often been a factor. Alexander the Great and the emperor's army were held up here in 327 BC. In 1947, they were set up as the province of West Pakistan. The British Emperor Akbar marched through the Hindu Kush mountains to conquer Sindh. Akbar in 1542 AD set up the Great Mughal Empire. The British East India Company and Pathan rulers have succeeded in the valley of which by 1848, successive empires had ruled: the empires of India, a pattern of commerce, migration and invasion by the Indians, Greeks, Persians, Greeks, Romans, Chinese, Arabs, Mongols and Muslims.
